

Joe C. Spurgeon, Ph.D.
Certified Industrial Hygienist (1993-2012)

These are photographs of one of my field technician's hands after he moved pieces of drywall that had been removed from a wall that was contaminated with Stachybotrys. Stachybotrys contains a class of mycotoxins called trichothocenes, which are known to be strong skin irritants.

